
MUSEUM STORE GARAGE SALE UNDER WAY AT ST. LOUIS ZOO

March 10, 2012 9:37 am • Shane Anthony • santhony@post-dispatch.com

»

A few hundred bargain hunters already have browsed marked-down items from a dozen St. Louis area attractions at the annual St. Louis Museum Stores Garage Sale.

Stuffed hyenas, polar bears and wolves; books on Cahokia Mounds, Lewis and Clark and St. Louis history; and a wide variety of T-shirts, keychains and coffee mugs emblazoned with logos are on sale today until 4 p.m., laid out on folding tables inside the zoo's north entrance.

The sale is organized by the St. Louis Museum Stores. Organizers say it gives local attraction gift shops a chance to make some money while clearing out some of their inventory.

Participating stores are:

Cahokia Mounds Museum

Campbell House Museum

Canterbury Bookstore

Cathedral Bookstore

Endangered Wolf Center

Eugene Field House & St. Louis Toy Museum

Gateway Arch

Humane Society of Missouri

The Opera Theatre of St. Louis

St. Louis Art Museum

St. Louis Zoo

World Bird Sanctuary

http://www.stltoday.com/news/local/museum-store-garage-sale-under-way-at-st-louis-zoo/article_043b1f49-6c19-5452-9146-8047fc54cc83.html
